Examples of Funded Projects (170):

Fiscal Year 2013: Funding for the State/Interstate ANS Management Plan Grant Program was used to 1) prevent the spread of invasive mussels through watercraft inspection and decontamination stations and, in California and Minnesota, mussel-sniffing dogs; 2) conduct a pike eradication project in Alaska's Kenai Peninsula; 3) Strengthen Oregon's rapid response capabilities; and 4) assist in the regional effort to prevent Asian carp from entering the Great Lakes. The National Fish Passage Program is a non-regulatory initiative that provides financial and technical assistance. The program anticipates funding projects that aid in the removal or bypass of artificial barriers that impede the movement of fish and contribute to their declining numbers. National Fish Habitat Partnership. The Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) provided funding to support a project to restore oxbows (cut-off stream meanders) in the Boone River, Iowa, watershed in cooperation with the Iowa Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Iowa Soybean Association, The Nature Conservancy (TNC), and farmers/landowners. The Service designed the restoration in accordance with a TNC watershed plan, and Iowa DNR did the contracting and oversight of construction. The project provides hydrologic conditions favorable to the endangered Topeka Shiner and other fish species, and includes monitoring of fish response and water quality. The project addresses conservation priorities of the Fishers and Farmers Partnership for the Upper Mississippi River Basin, one of 18 Fish Habitat Partnerships recognized by the National Fish Habitat Board.
